

Photos of Buildings in Wellington

The pictures are an example of the issues we have faced from the early 1930s through to the 1970s, 1980s and 1990s and up to the present.

The buildings on the Te Aro reclamation looking across towards the CBD and Lambton Quay area Circa early 1940s

The Te Aro flats area in 2011 looking across the city to the Lambton Quay area and the CBD. This shows many of the modern high rise buildings.

Wellington Town Hall before the removal of the clock tower and portico

This is the present town hall which was strengthened in the late 1980s but needs further work to comply with the new earthquake strengthening rules. Council is looking at options for its strengthening including base isolation.

Courtenay Place area showing many of the older style buildings.
Many of them unreinforced masonry.

This shows Courtenay place today with many of the at risk buildings already strengthened and new compliant buildings.

This an example of a modern building built on reclaimed land to exacting seismic standards e.g. base isolation
