

382 COLOMBO STREET
STATEMENT OF STEVEN JARM

STEVEN JARM states the following:

1. My full name is Steven Jarm I reside in Christchurch. I owned the building at 380/380A Colombo Street. That building was divided into two tenancies – Tasty Tucker Bakery at 380A Colombo Street and next to it a branch of the ANZ Bank at 380 Colombo St.
2. After the 4 September 2010 earthquake the Tasty Tucker premises were green placarded and there were no real issues with the structure of 380/380A Colombo St.
3. I was aware from seeing barricade fencing in front of 382 Colombo Street, (which was immediately adjacent and north the Tasty Tucker Bakery) at some stage, that there must have been some damage to that building. However I was not aware of the nature of that damage.
4. There was no communication to me by the owner of 382 Colombo Street, the Christchurch City Council or anyone else as to the nature of the damage to 382 Colombo Street or the potential for any danger that 382 Colombo Street posed to the adjacent building and the Tasty Tucker Bakery premises.
5. During the 22 February 2011 part of the south gable wall of 382 Colombo Street, immediately adjacent to the Tasty Tucker Bakery, and directly above it (given that the Tasty Tucker Bakery was only 1 storey and 382 Colombo Street was 2 stories) fell onto the roof of the Tasty Tucker Bakery collapsing the roof and filling the inside of the Tasty Tucker Bakery premises with rubble. I understand that a customer who was in the bakery premises at the time was killed as a result.
